

Threadlines - Visual Arts Workshops Application

Are you 12-21 and interested in photography, visual design, sculpture or performance? Then this is for you!

Join the Create Paisley and the Threadlines artist group to explore and activate Paisley's history of printed textiles. The group will meet on Saturday afternoons at Create Paisley to get to know each other, dig into Paisley's past of printed textiles and experiment with ideas to produce a new public intervention together in Paisley's town centre. The sessions will include practical activities and experiments in visual arts from printmaking and fashion to sculpture and performance. No previous arts experience necessary. All welcome.

The sessions will be facilitated by Pester and Rossi. A visual artist collective from Glasgow with a long track of produce and facilitate participatory projects in partnership with local arts, education and community organisations. Working site specifically, we respond to locations and communities exploring the relationship between media, artist and society. Ruby Pester and Nadia Rossi have been working together since graduating from Fine Art and Time Based Art in 2008 from Duncan of Jordanstone College of Art, Dundee.
